

BAGATA

They are known for their superior fish catching skill with a long spear. However with changing times, they have resorted to cultivation etc. according to environmental situations and availability of natural resources. They follow socio-cultural norms of their community. Previously pre-pubescent marriage was in vogue but now-a-days it is not practised. They prefer to marry their maternal uncles' daughters.

